COLUMBIA'S SMALL SURPLUS.

LARGE SUMS DEVOURED BY EXPENSES. PRESIDENT BARNARD SATISFIED WITH THE WORK-

PROPOSED CHANGES.

The trustees of Columbia College will hold their November meeting this afternoon. Mr. Ogden, the treasurer, will present his annual report, which will show a much smaller surplus than usual. While the surplus has been generally from $25,000 to $40,000, one year reaching the sum of $100,000, this year it is only $3,000. This difference is not due to smaller classes but to increased expenses during the last year.

President Barnard in conversation with a reporter of The Tribune on Saturday spoke encouragingly of the work now being done by the college, and also its prospects. The committee on the course and the students, consisting of the Rev. Dr. Dix. President Barnard, Dr. Chambers, Mr. Ogden and Mr. Rives, has under discussion three or four parallel tourses of elective studies, but no report will be made to the board on this subject, as the decision when reached will not affect the studies this year. The committee will report for adoption a resolution enabling graduates of any college to obtain the degree of M. A., the present statute limiting the degree of graduates of Columbia College. This restriction, Dr. Barnard explained, was due to the fact that the founders of the college did not think graduates of other colleges would come to Columbia to complete their education.

An important matter now before the committee is a resolution carrying out a recommendation in the president's last annual report—the advisability of changing the nomenclature of the several departments, since the work carried on in the school in the president's last annual report—the advisability of changing the nomenclature; Greek language and literature; pulse mathematics; applied mathematics and astronomy; history and polite literature; pulse mathematics; applied mathematics and astronomy; history and polite literature; pure mathematics; applied mathematics and astronomy; history and lower three departments of Arts ture; pure mathematics; applied mathematics and astronomy; history and lower the last named school it is proposed soon to subd

RUN DOWN BY A STEAMER.

RUN DOWN BY A STEAMER.

The steamship New-York arrived from New-Orleans yesterday, with her bows stove in and leaking badly. Captain Quick declined to make any statement as to the cause, but from others it was learned that about three o'clock yesterday morning, when off Five Fathom Bank Lightship, it being bright starlight and perfectly clear, the New-York had run into and nearly sank the schooner Blanche Hopkins, from New-Bedford for Fhiladelphia, in ballast. The schooner was abandoned by Captain Pedrick and the rest of the crew, eight in all, and they were brought to this city last night.

One of the crew of the schooner sald: "We were under sail, our lights were all burning, and the night was clear. When we saw the steamship she was heading directly for us, and as we were on the wind it was the duty of the steamer to give us the right of way. We burned a flash light to warn the steamer but no beed was paid to it and she came directly upon us, striking us on our starboard side abaft the fore-rigging and cutting into the fore-hatch and below the water-line. If our vessel hadn't been light we must have sunk immediately. The mate was knocked overboard but was picked up afterward, and the steward was knocked off the deck-house and had his back hurt. We saw that our vessel could not be brought into porti so we abandoned her and were brought to this city on the steamer. The stem of the steamer was knocked in clear below the water-line, and, not-withstanding that a piece of canvass was drawn over the breach, she leaked so much that the pumps were kept continually working to keep her clear of water."

The schooner was a three-masted vessel built in Camden, N. J., in 1850, and was owned by William Ireland and others, of Philadelphia. The New-York is one of the Morgan Line steamships, and was built by Harlan & Hollingsworth, at Wilmingten, Del., in 1875.

MORE ROOM NEEDED FOR BRIDGE TRAINS.

The weather was warm and clear, and the day delightful yesterday. This had its effect upon the Bridge traffic, and the track for pedestrians seemed crowded during the greater part of the day. Trains of, two cars were run from morning until evening. The damage on Saturday night was so slight that it caused a detention of only twenty minutes. But it showed clearly, as Mr. Hoagland said to a Trinuvine reporter, that the depot must be extended on the New York side. At present there is no margin for possible detentions. There is just room for two cars and the locomotive, and so long as everything runs exactly according to the schedule, the business of the road can be transacted. But the least little accident upsets the whole arrangement. It is part of the system that the sheaves of rubber and leather must wear out within a given time. The discovery that a sheave is in bad condition, and can no longer do its duty, ought to be instantly followed by the switching of the car upon a side-track, so that the worn out sheave may be replaced by a new one. But there is actually no room for this most necessary operation, and the car must be run over in its damaged condition to the Brooklyn side. If it cannot go in any other way, it is dragged across by a locomotive.

The officials are satisfied with the Paine system, and they feel assured that with the extension of the New-York depot, or the creation of a union depot in connection with the elevated railroad system, the public would be thoroughly cared for.

There was a delay of twenty minutes between 0:30 and 9:50 p. m. last evening causing considerable annoyance. The grip of two cars gave out after starting from the Brooklyn side and the cars ran back to the depot and had to be switched off and replaced by others. MORE ROOM NEEDED FOR BRIDGE TRAINS.

TWO STORIES OF AN ASSAULT.

TWO STORIES OF AN ASSAULT.

Martha Cummings and her son John, age fifteen, of No. 532 West Fortieth-st.; Michael Scott, of No. 404 West Thirtieth-st., and Kichard Rochefort, of No. 512 West Fortieth-st., were accused in the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday of assault and robbery, and were held by Justice Gardner under $1,500 bonds each to answer the charge. The complainant Daniel Coleman, of No. 425 West Sixteenth-st., a collector and salesman for Warren G. Abbott, a Brooklyn brewer, stated that while passing through West Fortieth-st, on Saturday evening he was attacked by Scott and Rochefort, who knocked him down and held him while Mrs. Cummings and her son robbed him of $70. When placed on the stand Mrs. Cummings stated that about two years ago Coleman married her sister. He treated her so cruelly that Mrs. Cummings was called upon to protect her from his assaults. Coleman threatened her with violence for this act. On Saturday she saw Coleman pull a revolver from his pocket and strike Scott with it. Both men clinched and fell to the sidewalk. She knew no more, Scott stated that Coleman while under the influence of liquor attacked him in a liquor store, Being a lame man, Rochefort earne to his assistance. Mrs. Cummings is said to be worth $70,000.

ALARM CAUSED BY A BURNING CHIMNEY.

The Post Office building at half-past 5 o'clock last evening seemed bathed in fire, so glowing were the tints of the glorious samset behind if. At about the same time those passing through City Hall Square saw a column of dense black smoke rise by the side of the cupola and then spreading downward from the force of the wind, ill the streets below with noxious fumes. An excitable citizen yelled to his companion, "the Post Offices afire" started off on a furious run to the station house at Chambers and Centre sts. where he gave the alarm. A truck and No. 7 engine were immediately dispatched to the supposed conflagration and the unfortunate firemen toiled up the numerous stories to the roof. A door was broken in, the cupola entered and a chimney discovered to be on fire. It appears that a fire had been lighted in a hitherto unoccupied room, and the flue was foul with last year's soot. There was much excitement in the neighborhood for about five minutes.

CHARGED WITH ROBBING HIS WIFE. ALARM CAUSED BY A BURNING CHIMNEY.

CHARGED WITH ROBBING IIIS WIFE.

Joseph Golden, age twenty-one, who is accused by young Hannah Sev of dragging her in this city and then getting some one to marry them, was arrested in Newark yesterday afternoon, charged with lareceny, the girl alleging that he had stolen some of her dresses. Golden, like Miss Sev. is a Polish Jew, and speaks English poorly. He said last evening that he knew the girl in Poland, and became engaged to her there. Three months ago he sent her $36 and she came to America and joined her mother, who was living at No. 247 Bank-st., Newark. Before the girl came over her mother bound herself by a written contract to give him Hannah in marriage. He denied that he had brought about the marriage in an underhanded way. The girl, he says, voluntarily went with him to the office of the Mayor in this city on last Thursday, and there they were married. In the evening he gave her all his money, amounting to $68. CHARGED WITH ROBBING HIS WIFE. money, amounting to $68.

RUNNING AWAY AT SIGHT OF AN OFFICER. Two men were seen acting suspiciously yesterday afternoon in Fulton-st., near DeKalb-ave., Brooklyn. They carried a bag, and Policeman Hickman went up to question them. At sight of the policeman they took to their heels, and after running a short distance they threw down the bag. With the aid of Special Policeman Frost they were captured. The bag was found to contain ready-made clothing worth $350, which had been stolen from the "Missift Parlor" of L. Simmis, at Elm place and Fultonst, which the thieves had entered by forcing the hall door. The men arrested gave the names of Joseph Skidmore, age thirty-two, of No. 53 North

Second-st., and William Littlejohn, age twenty-eight. The latter refused to tell where he lived. All the property stolen was recovered.

THE DEET OF ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH.

Yesterday being the first Sunday of November the regular mouthly collection, which was begin last January for the purpose of paying off the heavy debt that has so long burdened St. Stephen's Roman Catholic Church in East Twenty-eighth-st., was taken up there—the pastor, Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn, with his assistant priests, going around in person, basket in hand, from pew to pew. Collections were taken at all the masses, seven in number, as well as at the other services in the afternoon and evening. Dr. McGlynn says that since he began these special collections last winter the debt of the church has been reduced about $35,000. It was about $180,000 at the beginning of the year. He hopes to have it entirely paid off within the next three or four years.

NICKEL MINES IN NEVADA.

Prom The Sacramento Record Union.

As the discovery of nickel on this coast has opened a new field of mining industry, and one which has every indication of becoming equal to the Constock in richness. The Record concluded to gather the facts. In this discovery, as in hundreds of other great finds, these mines have been lying for years within plain sight of a stage road, where ecople constantly travel, without even notice. Many samples of the ore have been sent to different assayers for copper, but none ever took the trouble to analyze the rock until it was sent to this city. In 1881 samples of this ore were sent to Charles Bell for copper assay. Upon examination it was found to contain a large per cent of nickel. More of the ore being secured, it was analyzed, proving the first result. Upon this showing, william 8. Bell was sent to discover the locations, and succeeded in finding the richest and most valuable nickel property ever discovered. The discovery being kept as secret as possible, little was known as to its extent until recently. The property is located in the northern portion of Churchill County, Nevada. The property has been well prospected, and the largest bodies of this mineral exposit that have ever been known. The nickel ores of Pennsylvania average but two per cent. They are reduced on the ground to fifteen per cent, and sent to Camiden, N. J., where they are again reduced and the metal extracted. The nickel found in Oregon has also been opened, but to what extent cannot be ascertained. Thirty tons of the Nevada nickel were sent to London, which graded 294s per cent. These mines are the only ones yet discovered that carry uniformly the three distinct characters, X-Arseniuret, which is a grayish metallic rect; arreniate, a beautiful apple green; and arsenite, having a dark metallic lustre.

Chicago Correspondence Louisellis University Journal.

I mentioned in my last week's letter the intended publication in this city of The Scandinavia, to be devoted to acquainting the American people with the best of Scandinavian literature, and the Scandinavians of this country with the necessities, proprieties and requirements of life in America. Scandinavia appeared to-day. It is a beautiful publication typographically, and its material and arrangement are models in the presentation of periodic literature. Its cliffor is a man who, in my judgment, is certain to impress his personality upon both the literature and the affairs of this country. His name is N. C. Frederiksen, and he has a romantic and interesting history. He was born in Loband, Demmark, in 1840, and was regarded in that rountry as ence of the leading men of the time. He was Professor of Political Economy and Finance in the University of Copenhagen twelve years, from 1855 to 1877, inclusive, during which time he married the cidest daugiter of D. G. Monard, who was the leader of the Liberals during the ancient regime, and in 1848. Mr. Frederiksen was also a member of the Danish Parliament for cieven years, being the leader of the "Centre" in the Folkething, or the popular chamber. In 1871 he introduced the German moorgage-banking system in Denmark, and established, together with other capitalists of Hainburg and Berlin, "Den Danisk Lambeurandsbank" at Copenhagen, with a capitalof $3,000,000. In 1877, as bondsman for his two younger brothers, who had introduced the sugar-beet mounting to upward of $1,000,000. Everything was swept from him in a moment. In the same year he came to America to recover his fortune, which he seems certains to do, Forsome time he secured a most meagre lively hood in precarlous employment upon Scandinavian-American papers. The Harpooner's Story.

New Bredford, Jane 1, 1883.

Dr. J. C. Ayra & Co.—Twenty years ago I was a harpooner in the North Parille, when five others of the crew and any self were laid up with scurvy. Our budies were bloated, gums swollen and bleeding, teeth bosse, purple blotches all over us, and our breath seemed rotten. Take it by and large we were pretty badly off. All our line jules was accidentally destroyed, but the captain had a couple dozen bettles of Ayra's Earney Fallilla and gave us that. We recovered on it quicker than I have ever seen men brought about by any other treatment for Scurvy, and I've secan a good deal of it. Seeing no mention in your Almanac of your Sarsaparilla being good for scurvy, I thought you cught to know of this, and so send you the facts.

Respectfully yours, Ralph Y. Wingath.
